Applicant's arguments filed 12-19-06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The following rejection is maintained:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lee et al.(5,770,635) in view of Becker et al.(2002/0179367).

Lee et al. discloses preparations of closed cell rigid polyurethane foams and articles comprising the foams contained between multiple diverse substrate layers (see column 10 line 1-23, column 20 line 13 et seq., and column 21 line 1-31, as well as, the entire document).

Lee et al. differs from the instant claims in that formation of slots or depressions in the surface of the formed articles is not particularly recited. However, Becker et al. discloses formation of such slots or depressions in the surface of formed urethane foam articles for the purpose of forming foamed articles having improved sound absorbency (see the entire document). Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have employed the surface perforation operations of Becker et al. to the surfaces of the formed articles of Lee et al. for the purpose of improving the sound absorbing properties of the articles formed in order to arrive at the products of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results.

Applicants' arguments have been considered, but rejection is maintained for the reasons set forth above. Applicants' claims do not require any degree of soundproofing which would serve to distinguish their claims from the teachings of Lee et al. in the patentable sense or to negate the rejection over Lee et al. in view of Becker et al. as set forth above.

Applicants' set forth no degrees of difference "between their at least two types of depressions that differ in at least one dimension" so as to distinguish over the natural variations in sizes of perforations arising from imperfections associated with real world practice of the disclosed operations of Becker et al.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
